HOLY CROSS PLAYS 'VARSITY TOMORROW

Fast Worcester Nine Assures Hard Struggle For Blue in 2nd Game

"IKE" HULIHAN TO PITCH

Will Probably Be Opposed by Gill or McLoughlin

To-morrow afternoon on Porter Field, at 3:30, Middlebury will play its second baseball game of the season when the 'Varsity will encounter Holy Cross, one of the fastest college nines now playing. Although the Worcester aggregation will have the advantage of having already played eleven games, including that with U. V. M. this afternoon in Burlington, Middlebury is expected to put up a strong fight and one of the most interesting games of the season is assured.

Holy Cross Leading Team in East

The Holy Cross team thus far has had a very successful season, winning eight out of the last ten starts and scoring one tie, that with Georgetown. Lehigh, by a 2-1 victory last week, has been the only college able to conquer the purple, and on the other hand the Worcester team can claim victories over many of the leading college nines in the east and south including Catholic University, Princeton, Yale, Boston University, and Lafayette.

Coach "Jack" Barry, famous second baseman for the Philadelphia "Athletes" several years ago, will bring a team with him that is well developed in all stages of the game. Practically all of his men have had offers from one or more major league managers and Barry claims, that entered in either of the big leagues his team would be able to finish with a safe margin above the last few places. His men hit hard and field almost faultlessly. Maguire and Riopel, playing second and short stop respectively, form one of the fastest combinations that ever played on a college ball team.

Holy Cross will bring a quartet of first class pitchers with it. Tunney, Horan, Gill, and McLoughlin are easily the strongest college pitching staff now playing. Either Gill, who recently pitched a 3-0 victory over Boston University, or McLaughlin will probably start against Middlebury.

Hulihan Likely to Pitch

Coach Morey will select "Ike" Hulihan or Hastings to do the hurling for the home team. Hulihan's arm has been slowly rounding into shape and if the weather is warm and favorable, he is the most likely choice and should give the Holy Cross batsmen considerable trouble, but if Morey thinks him not yet ready to take the mound, Hastings will be given a chance to work out against his former team In either case it will be the first appearance on the mound this season for either man and considerable interest will be attached to their showing.

The Middlebury order will be practically the same as in the Colby game, Elmer replacing either Hulihan or Hastings in the field. The line up for both teams is as follows: Holy Cross—Leo Dugan, l. f.; Leonard Dugan, r. f.; Gagnon, s. s.; O'Connor, 1st; Riopel, 3rd; Simendinger, c. f.; Maguire, 2nd; Walsh, c.; and Gill or McLoughlin, p. Middlebury—Stockwell, 2nd; P. Ross, s. s.; Hulihan, p. or c. f.; Elmer c. f. or r. f.; Timberman, 1st; White, 3rd; Mead, c.; Hastings, p. or r. f.; and Whitmore, l. f.

COLLEGE HOST OF LANGUAGE ASSN'S

Teachers of Classical and Modern Tongues Convened Fri. and Sat.

DINNER FRIDAY NIGHT

Students in French and Spanish Courses Entertain With Plays

About twenty delegates from the several colleges and certain preparatory schools of the state attended the joint meeting of the Vermont sections of the Classical and the Modern Language associations of New England in joint session here Friday and Saturday. The convention opened at two o'clock Friday afternoon in Old Chapel, with Principal John E. Colburn of Burlington High School, presiding. Acting-President Edward Day Collins welcomed the delegates to Middlebury following which Professor Duane L. Robinson, President of the Modern Language section, delivered an address, "Language, a Lost Art?" Miss Alice C. Waldo of Bishop Hopkins Hall, Burlington, spoke on "Some Aspects of the College Entrance Examinations". A general discussion followed.

Saturday's session began at nine o'clock with a talk by Principal Archie S. Harriman of Middlebury High School, on "The Adaption to the Pupils' Aims of the Teacher's Methods in the Teaching of Latin". Professor R. H. White spoke on "Some Problems in the Teaching of a Classical Language". This was followed by an address in the Old Chapel Room by Professor Fred D. Carpenter of the University of Vermont, on "The Relation of Aim to Method in the Teaching of Modern Languages".

A joint session, President Robinson presiding, was held at 10:45 in the same room. Professor Samuel E. Bassett of the University of Vermont, spoke on "Reading Homer". The meeting closed with an address by Professor E. C. Skillings on "Intellectual Conditions in Germany".

At six o'clock on Friday evening a dinner was served the visiting teachers in Hepburn Hall. In McCullough Gymnasium, at eight o'clock, the French and Spanish plays, "L'Anglais Tel Qu'on le Parle" and "Los Pantalones" were presented by students of the two languages. Both were well received by a good sized audience of visiting teachers and college people.

Plays Well Received

The scene of the first play "L'Anglais Tel Qu'on le Parle", which was directed by Mlle. de la Souchere, was laid in Paris and centered around a run-a-way couple, played by Alice Ladd and Merton LaFountain, who were seeking rooms in the Hotel de Cologne. The difficulties of the interpreter furnished most of the humor of the play and the part was well taken by De Vaux de Lancey. The arrival of Hogson, Ridley Norton, in search of his run-away daughter caused excitement for Eugine, the interpreter. After difficulties with the police Hogson became reconciled to his daughter's choice.

The action of the Spanish play "Los Pantalones", under the direction of Senoritas Caridad Rodriguez and Maria de Onate, revolved around Juan, Leroy Bigelow, continually henpecked by his wife, mother-in-law and sister-in-law, these parts being taken by Lila Winchester, Ona Ladd and Reba Maxfield respectively. R. P. I. MEET TO OPEN SEASON SAT.

Middlebury Strong in Track Events—Capt. Robinson Will Have Chance At Own Hurdle Record

The 1921 track season will be formally opened Saturday afternoon on Porter Field when the 'Varsity will encounter the representatives of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in the first meet of the season. The Troy teams have in past years made a good record on track and field sports and it is expected that Middlebury will be pushed to the limit to lengthen her long list of track victories.

Among those who are looked upon as almost certain point winners, is Captain Robinson, holder of the college record in the 220-yard hurdles and a man who has made a good record in both the Eastern and the New England Intercollegiates. He will be assisted in his races by Peck who is taking high and low hurdles in very fast time and in practice has pushed Robinson to his limit.

Darby, Robinson, Osteyee, and Crane will take care of the dashes, and with Hunt, Darby, and Cook entered in the half-mile Middlebury should be able to gather her full share of points in the shorter distances. Shelvey, Tulley, and Kendall are to run in the half-mile and Shelvey, Lewis, and Gray in the mile. Shelvey is reported to be running true to last year's form and with the benefit of his previous experience is expectd to set a fast pace in both these events. In the two-mile Middlebury will have only one veteran, Cole, on whom to rely but Shepardson and Wexler are both promising candidates.

The field events will be taken care of by Robinson, Lockwood, Cook, and Gollnick in the jumps and Whitten, Drost, and Carlton in the pole vault. Whitten is one of the most likely men in several years for the latter event. Potratz and Margeson will throw the hammer and Baldwin, Jewett, Potratz and Gollnick will handle the discus. Sikorski, Robinson, and Baldwin are the most probable men for the shot put.

MIDDLEBURY WINS OVER COLBY 4-1

Elmer's Pitching and Bunched Hits of Home Team Decide Opener

OVER 400 IN ATTENDANCE

Fourth Inning Rally Overcomes Colby Lead---Sat. Game Cancelled

Good pitching by Elmer and timely clouting by nearly every member of the team gave Middlebury a 4-1 victory over Colby in the opening game of the season Friday on Porter Field. Errors gave the visitors their one run in the first inning and their only other chance of scoring was nipped by Elmer in the eighth inning when, with the bases full, he struck out two men and retired the side. The home team had two bad innings in the field but at other times played together well while their stick work easily out-shone that of the Colby nine.

Weather Conditions Good

With the exception of a strong south wind the weather conditions for the game were close to ideal. Totalling about four hundred and fifty the attendance while smaller than that which may be expected to-morrow or at the Vermont game, doubtless set a new mark for an opening game. Acting-President Edward D. Collins threw out the ball which started the game and a moment later Taylor, center fielder on the visiting nine, almost returned it on a sharp rap to the left stand.

Elmer Effective on Mound

Individual honors of the game are undisputably with "Si" Elmer who was Coach Morey's selection for center position. Allowing the opposing batsmen but four scattered hits, one more than the same team registered against Harvard two days previous, he showed himself master of every situation which confronted him during the nine innings. His delivery was extremely effective, his record of strike-out being seven, one more than that which was chalked up to Coulman, the Colby mound artist, and two of which, coming in the eight inning, blasted their last hope of further scoring. His single in the fourth also started the Blue on its scoring rampage and his tally was the first of three during that inning.

Colby First to Score

Fitzgerald, third on Colby's batting order, got on in the first inning when White booted his grounder to third, going down to second on the next play. He scored when Ross fumbled Moran's grounder which the latter stretched into two bases. With two out Wells, the next up, hit an easy grounder to third and was thrown out.

With one down in the fourth, two singles by Elmer and Captain Timberman set the stage for the home team's scoring and White's triple to right field brought both men in. The latter scored a moment later on a wild pitch by Coulman. This ended the scoring that inning for, though Hastings walked, Coulman struck out Mead and Whitmore.

Stockwell singled the next inning but failed to touch third when Ross tripled to deep left and the run did not count. Ross tallied on a poor throw from Williams.

The 'Varsity baseball game which was to have been played with Northeastern Saturday afternoon on Porter Field was cancelled on account of rain. Middlebury will not meet Northeast-

The New Board

Fully appreciative of the manifold nature of the responsibilities which confront it, the new Board of Editors in this issue assumes control of the destinies of The Campus for the coming year. It is not altogether without temerity and fear that we consider our duties and our own meager capacities in the light of what has been done before us. Too much cannot be said in appreciation of the retiring board and their tireless efforts to raise the paper to the position of greater prestige and influence it now enjoys. They have done their full share as others have done theirs before them, and now it remains for the new staff, their successors, to "carry on". To conduct the paper on the same high plane as of former years is indeed a problem and the loss of seven experienced and capable members from the board only accentuates the difficulty and calls for additional effort to overcome the handicap of the retirement.

The history of The Campus is inspiring in itself and has taught lessons which this and succeeding boards cannot afford to forget. Founded in 1830, a score and a half years after our Vermont forefathers laid the firm foundation for the college, it is one of the older student publications in the country. Its development has been a steady, healthy growth from monthly to semi-monthly and from semi-monthly to weekly. Each succeeding administration has made improvements, has contributed its own share to the development of the paper. In the past year The Campus became a charter member of the Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, thus establishing itself more firmly than ever in its friendly relationships with other college publications. Moreover the retiring staff has, despite frequent reversals and disheartening mishaps, been able to make delivery every Wednesday with absolute regularity, a record never before approached in the history of the paper.

And now, what can the present staff do as its share in the constructive policy of The Campus? The time for expansion is near. The college is growing and with it too, must grow The Campus. The time may not yet have come but happy will be the lot of the editors who will be able to take the all-important steps to enlarge the paper to a size equal to the papers supported at our sister New England colleges. But whether or not this action can be taken during the coming administration, The Campus must still rely upon the loyalty and cooperation of those who make its existence possible. We can do nothing of permanent value without the continued support of the entire college alumni, faculty and undergraduates. Any success which we might achieve without their support would be only temporary and would pass with us. The Campus is designed to serve student, teacher, and graduate alike and if it fails in any of these purposes it reveals a truly unfortunate lack of unity. Toward this end, unification, more than toward any other the paper can perform its greatest service. Only as it has served to bring all Middlebury men together in a common interest, Alma Mater, has The Campus ever fulfilled its truest purpose.

Of our editorial policy we need hardly to make comment. Our purpose is to serve Middlebury and in this capacity, and this capacity only, will we act. We cannot be partizan, for in serving Middlebury unselfishly and to her best interest there can be no partizanship. In case of inter-factional disputes our duty shall be to present both sides of the issue fairly with a view to encouraging compromises on petty differences and securing and maintaining that good feeling of fellowship, the absence of which would threaten the very life of the college. The policy of The Campus has always been and always will be—Middlebury.

Middlebury has lost her leader, a man who served her faithfully for thirteen years and raised her from a position of comparative insignificance to her present position of greater respect and standing in all educational circles. The loss was a hard one to bear yet we rejoice in the greater opportunities that have come to Dr. Thomas and feel confident that his great spirit will continue after him in the college which he loves. What he did will never be forgotten but the college will not now remain stagnant. We are now entered upon a still greater era of expansion and development and The Campus, at the beginning of the new year, dedicates itself to a sincere desire to become an instrument in the further advancement of old Middlebury.

Acting-Dean Luther I. Bonney has returned from a brief visit to St. Johnsbury where he lectured Friday to the students of St. Johnsbury Academy and showed lantern slides of the college.

"For Boards may come and Boards may go
But we pursue our uninterrupted, blithesome way forever."
(signed) Ball & Chain

For this slight innovation we make our apologies to Mr. Raymond Hitchcock who was wont to begin his shows with the finale, explaining that he did not expect his audience to sit through the entire performance but craved the satisfaction of feeling that they had. Similarly, our signature appears, not at the stern, but at the masthead, inasmuch as we hardly expect you to struggle through our colyum.

And so, it is not without some little fear and trembling that we await your calloused judgment, "dere reeder", on this our curtain raiser.

We launch our plea.

Golluph!

Throughout the winter we noted the sporadic sprouting of golf knickers, commonly called "golfies", on our campus. These harbingers of vogue were first ridiculed and then ignored. Wishing to prove their golfing assumptions and to assert that they had served as more than caddies, the sporting bloods have sunk several tin cans on the campus lawns much to the trepidations of unwary-footed pedestrians. The innovators claim that eighteen holes are stretched about our halls of learning. We do not doubt it. From latent cries of "Fore!" and subsequent dodgings we pay compliment to their intelligence in assuming they must have some objects in view. Middlebury, it will be noticed with disappointment by golfing aspirants, boasts no nineteenth hole owing to the strict enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Vermont seems unalterably opposed to Daylight Saving measures. An hour more of light in connection with some of our studies would not be unwelcome to us personally.

Fiddlers Three

("A. Gollnick, Barney Potratz and Edwin Drost, students at Middlebury College, are on their annual tour of Vermont."—The Milwaukee Journal.)

There were three from Milwaukee who paid their fare
With never a thought of the cost
To make music down east, for a chromatic air
Were their names: Gollnick, Potratz and Drost.

O, whether they pick on a mandolin
Or fiddle a jazz with glee,
They're certain to tickle 'em when they begin,
Whatever the tune may be,
For even in print they're a melodee—
Gollnick,
Potratz,
And Drost.

The accomplished ease with which Acting-President Dr. Collins threw the first baseball on the field last Thursday, is a good example of the result which attends persistent practice. Rumor has it that he was seen at early dawn on three successive morning before the opening of baseball season throwing baseball, at the side of his residence.

RECITAL IN CHAPEL TO-NIGHT

Miss Ruth Bingamin to Present Varied Pianoforte Selections

Miss Ruth Bingamin has made an exceptionally felicitious selection from the large library of pianoforte literature to present in her recital to be given in Mead Chapel this evening, at eight o'clock. The opening number of the program is to be the Chromatic Fantasie and Fugue of Sebastian Bach. This composition is one of the greatest and deservedly the most renowned of the master's works. In the Fantasia especially he has, as if by a kind of prophetic insight, anticipated all the resources of modern harmony. Greig's Ballade in G Minor has for its main theme an old Norwegian folksong and the variations devised by the composer with this theme as the subject, are remarkable not only for their musical beauty but also for the intellectual fecundity displayed.

Chopin's compositions are ever the Armaggeden of pianists, for they demand not only a facile technique, but fine tone and complete control of the resources of the modern pianoforte. In the F sharp Minor Prelude, Chopin gives a taste of his best manner. The ingenuity of figure and avoidance of rhythmic monotone are evidences of the composer's sense of the decorative. Impromptu in A flat is one of a set of two, written in contrasting style and characterized by exquisite buoyancy and tenderness. Chopin's Etudes are less studies than poems, as their enormous technical difficulty is subservient to their poetic inspiration and musical thought. The Opus 25, Number 3, is really an exercise for the development of the trill, the melody being carried by the first two fingers while the fourth and fifth are occupied by alternating vibrations. The Opus 25, Number 12 is simply an extended arpeggio figure played in octave intervals.

Modernists are well represented by Dohynani and Debussy and a fine opportunity for the display of technical skill is afforded by the concluding compositions of Liszt.

REV. WM. BURT EXPLAINS VALUE OF THREEFOLD LIFE

Methodist Episcopal Bishop Heard at Sunday Vesper Service

The speaker at Vesper service was the Rev. William Burt from Buffalo, N. Y., Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who chose as his text the eleventh and twelfth verses from the second chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to Titus—"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously and godly in this present world—" Bishop Burt holds that this is an age of the best civilization the world has ever known, an age which offers the highest inducements to personal pleasures. The grace of God brings salvation to all the world, teaching us how we should live.

To live soberly means to him bringing our whole lower self under the domination of our higher self, that is, if we have passions and desires drawing us to sin we must master them or they will master us. To live righteously means living in conformity with right standards toward our fellowmen. In this world, said Bishop Burt, we must strive for the ideal of making this human family a better brotherhood. Jesus Christ's one purpose in this world was to do the will of His Father, and if we lead a godly life it is not a question of intellect or emotion but a question of our willingness to conform to the will of God and to cooperate with Him.

Bishop Burt was born in Podstow, Cornwall, England. He was pastor of St. Paul's Church, Brookline, from 1881 to 1883 and of De Halb Ave. Church, Brookline, from 1883 to 1886. In 1886 he was transferred to Italy and made the presiding elder in the Milan district. He spent fourteen years in Rome in charge of churches and schools in Italy. He was elected Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Los Angeles, Cal., and made resident Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Europe from 1904-1912. Since then he has been the resident bishop at Buffalo, N. Y. He is the author of several books in Italian. He received the order of Cavalliere di S. S. Maurizzio Lazzaro from the King of Italy in 1903. He is a graduate of Wesleyan University in the class of 1879 and is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and Phi Beta Kappa fraternities. He holds many honorary degrees including those of B. A., M. A., D. D., and L L. D. from Wesleyan; B. D. from Drew Seminary; D. D. from Grant University; S. T. D. from Dickinson College; L. H. D. from Syracuse; and L L. D. from Allegheny College.

D. U. LEASES MULCAHY HOUSE

Fraternity Secures Former Betsey Buttles Tea House As Home For Next Year

The Middlebury Chapter of Delta Upsilon Fraternity has leased the Mulcahy house on Main Street, formerly occupied by Miss Betsey Buttles, and will occupy it during the coming college year. The fraternity gave up its old house at 1 Weybridge street in 1916, intending to build a new house on the lot which it owns just south of the Delta Kappa Epsilon House. Since that time the fraternity has temporarily had rooms in the Battell Block.

Owing to the war and present building conditions, there is considerable uncertainty about the building of a new house, and the fraternity has decided to rent for the coming year. The house will be completely renovated during the summer and will be equipped to accommodate all the D. U. upper-classmen.

The Mulcahy house was formerly the home of the Delta Sigma fraternity which disbanded in 1917 and has for the past year been occupied in part by The Betsey Buttles Tea House. The Tea House is now moving to 17 Court street.

STUDENTS PRESENT PLAY FOR STUDENT VOLUNTEERS

The Chinese play "Broken China", given in the Town Hall last evening by members of the student body, was well attended. Gladys Thompson took the part of the mother-in-law; Pearl Blackburn, of the bride; Charles Reinbrecht, the husband; Marion Crathern, a friend; Anne Littlefield, Missionary; Arthur Healy, Photographer; Marion Tilden and Ruth Moulton, children; and George Lewis and James Burckes took the parts of coolies. Mrs. D. F. Pollard of Burlington told folk stories. Chinese music was also a feature of the entertainment. Food coming directly from Chinatown was on sale between the acts. The proceeds of the play will be used to aid the Student Volunteer Movement.

TENNIS TEAM LEAVES ON MASSACHUSETTS TRIP

Lane, Ashley, Davis, and Fletcher Selected to Make Trip

A match with Holy Cross at Worcester to-morrow followed by one with Springfield Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield Saturday, will open the 'Varsity tennis season. This is the first time in the history of the sport at Middlebury that such an extended trip has been undertaken. The team is considerably handicapped by the fact that the college courts have only been in playing condition less than a week but during this time the squad has been hard at work under the direction of Acting-Dean Luther I. Bonney who is acting as coach in preparation for the coming meets.

The squad numbers only four veterans from last season, Gollnick, Brautigam, and Lane '22 and Ashley '23, but there is evidence of promising material from the freshman class. The new men who have shown up well in the early practices include E. Adams, Ferry, Fletcher, Gannon, and G. Krichbaum, all of the class of 1924.

UNDERGRAD. ASS'N RESTRICTS VOTING FOR MAY ELECTIONS

A peremptory warning to delinquent members of the Undergraduate Association was contained in last night's resolution passed by that body in Hepburn Hall which provides that all those whose dues are unpaid by May 19 will be barred from voting in the forthcoming elections. A report from R. T. Hall '22, treasurer, shows that those in arrears for the second semester number 153 while a total of 34 are charged with first semester dues.

Student Council presented two amendments to the constitution providing for Campus and Dormitory Committees headed by the senior members of the council. W. M. Meacham '21 was elected chief of a police force consisting of Davis '21, Emory '24 and Hunter '24 who will patrol Porter Field during athletic contests for the remainder of the year. The association further voted to extend to the senior cheer-leader the privilege of wearing a large-sized "M" during athletic games.

The part of Felipe, sweet-heart of the sister-in-law was humorously taken by Charles Haugh, as was that of Pepa, the maid, by Sadie Posner.

Their program which will be the same as was presented on their tour of the northern part of the state early last month, includes selections by both clubs, the college quartette, solos and other enjoyable numbers, making an exceptionally well-balanced entertainment. Tickets for the concert have been placed on sale at Frost's Pharmacy. All seats are reserved and sell for fifty cents each. The advance sale has indicated a large attendance but there are still some good seats left.

Annual Y. W. C. A. Installation

The annual installation of the new officers and cabinet members of the Y. W. C. A. took place last Wednesday evening in Pearsons Social Hall. Reports were given by the heads of various committees on the work accomplished during the past year, after which the old cabinet formally went out of office. The retiring president, Emma Schaefer '21, spoke in appreciation of the cooperation she had received during the year, with the hope that the same would be granted to her successor, Anne A. Littlefield '22.

Jack Mead '21 and Payson Webber '24 spent the week-end at their respective homes in Rutland.
